

2024-2025 Financial Aid Cost of Attendance

The Financial Aid Cost of Attendance estimates the total educational costs for a student attending one academic year (2 semesters). The cost factors include both direct and indirect costs. Direct costs include tuition, fees, housing and books purchased through Barnes & Noble. Indirect costs include books and supplies not purchased through Barnes & Noble, meals, transportation and personal expenses. The costs included are estimates and vary depending on course requirements and personal spending habits. Actual costs may vary.

Explanation of Cost of Attendance Components

Tuition and fees – Costs incurred while attending college that are paid directly to Baker College. Tuition amounts vary based on the average number of credits and academic program.

- Undergraduate: full time based on 14 credits / half-time based on 6 credits
- Graduate: full-time based on 9 credit / half-time based on 6 credits
- St. Francis: annual tuition rate

Books and supplies – Average costs incurred for textbooks and supplies purchased from the Baker College Barnes & Noble store.

Housing and Food – Costs incurred for housing and meals while attending college.

For students planning to:

- Live on-campus: This includes a residence hall fee (paid directly to Baker College) and an estimated food cost for meals.
- Live off campus or with parents: Room & board costs are estimated using expenses reasonably incurred by the student for housing and meals. These costs are not paid directly to Baker College.

Other Expenses and Transportation – Miscellaneous costs incurred while attending Baker College. These costs are not paid directly to Baker College. Examples include: transportation, computers, and other personal expenses.
